

Weekly Update Videos: Tips

1. Keep it real.
2. Add value.
3. Use it to contextualise your subject in the real world.
Eg: did anyone see the case handed down by the NSW Court of Appeal last week? It relates to what we are reading in module....
4. Translate for the student where they are up to in session and what they should be thinking about for successful study (eg: we are 6 weeks out from the exam, you should be preparing good review notes on...)
5. Give clear directions (location in your subject) on where to find things that will support your students– being conscious of the study cycle. Eg: mindmaps
6. Use it to explain your methodology, eg: the reason I want you to attempt the problem questions I have set this week on the discussion board are..”
7. Use it to help students to make the connection between content, tute attendance and assessment.

Kim Bailey

Centre for Law and Justice